

Drug analysis projects — good or bad?

by KATHERINE BOYCE
(First of three articles)

When a person walks into a drug store and picks up a bottle of cold tablets, he can read the label and know what he's getting.

But if he is buying illegal drugs from a pusher on the street, he only has the pusher's word for the contents. Unfortunately, his word is often no better than the junk he's selling.

What a pusher might describe as "good stuff," may be nothing more than caffeine or powdered sugar, or it could be something much more harmful, such as rat poison.

Youth officers and government officials in the Northwest suburbs are divided in their opinions on the best way to combat the sale of street drugs.

Several youth agencies in the Chicago metropolitan area operate drug analysis programs. The idea of the programs is to discourage drug abuse by showing the user he may have been "ripped off" by the pusher or that the drug he has been sold is more dangerous than what he intended to buy.

WHEN A USER contacts a youth agency, requesting analysis of a drug he has purchased, he is directed to one of five drop-off centers in the Chicago area, where he anonymously deposits the drug for analysis. The drug user obtains test results by calling the youth agency.

Drug analysis has become a controversial topic among Northwest suburban officials. Those who oppose the program contend it encourages drug abuse.

The Regional Youth Services Bureau, which serves and is funded by Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships, recently considered implementing a drug analysis program. The bureau's board of directors, however, rejected the program last month.

"We felt that the Regional Youth Service Bureau was not the proper vehicle for running the program," said Richard Hall, Elk Grove Township supervisor and member of the bureau's board of directors.

"I have some reservations about the program," Hall said. "The question you must ask is, 'Are we encouraging the use of drugs?'" It's "highly questionable" whether analysis curbs drug use, he said. He fears analysis may stimulate the use of illegal drugs.

PUBLIC FUNDS "should not be used on a program of this nature, which is purely experimental," Hall commented. He feels such experiments should be left to private agencies.

"We didn't feel it was the type of program that we wanted to get involved with," he said.

David Russell, director of The Bridge youth services bureau serving Palatine Township, is in favor of a drug analysis program. Opposition to the program is twofold, he explained. Opponents fear analysis would "raise the ire of the community" and "encourage the use of drugs."

But Russell argues that the drug abuse prevention programs have had "nothing but miserable failure in at-

More decisions on Bears stadium facing trustees

Meadows aldermen pass on arena

Rolling Meadows aldermen representing homeowners near Arlington Park Race Track said they will not become involved with the upcoming Arlington Heights referendum on the proposed Chicago Bears stadium.

Aldermen Raymond H. Neuckranz and Merrill A. Wuersch, 1st, represent residents who live closer to the stadium site than any of the Arlington Heights voters who will participate in the referendum.

The two councilmen conducted a survey of their ward in July, and it indicated homeowners were against the stadium and high-rise development planned by Madison Square Garden Corp. by a 4-to-1 margin.

NEUCKRANZ urged the council last month to lodge a formal protest with the Arlington Heights Village Board which is considering the project, citing "many deleterious effects such a development would have on the City of Rolling Meadows."

Bowing to the rest of the council, Neuckranz voted to table his own motion, however, after other aldermen described his position as premature. Only Wuersch voted against the delay.

Neuckranz said although he feels the objections of Rolling

Meadows should be voiced to Arlington Heights officials before the referendum, he will not raise the issue again.

"I think it will probably be too late to do anything after the referendum, but at least I'm on the record as saying how I feel and how the residents of the 1st Ward feel," Neuckranz said. "Personally, I don't think the referendum will pass anyway."

WUERCH ALSO said he will make no further attempt to persuade his fellow council members to go before the Arlington Heights Village Board on the issue.

"I think we've done just about everything we can," he commented.

Ald. Thomas Waldron, 2nd, represents a ward which also adjoins the track property, although the Arlington Park Hilton and the track itself lie between the development and houses in his ward.

WALDRON SAID he felt it would be improper for Rolling Meadows officials to become involved in another community's affairs.

"I think it's their business," he said. "We try to stay out of other village's affairs, and we don't like it when they come to us on something."

More decisions on the Arlington Park Race Track stadium proposal will confront the Arlington Heights Village Board tonight.

A report by Village Pres. James T. Ryan on a referendum on village financing for the stadium, a contract to hire two investment banking firms as bond counselors and a resolution from the Arlington Heights Park District seeking annexation of the race track property are on the board's agenda.

Ryan will ask the board to agree to set up a village-wide binding referendum on the stadium proposal before it makes a final decision on the project.

RYAN PREDICTED the vote on the stadium could be scheduled in October or early November after final figures on revenue bond financing are presented.

Trustee David Griffin also has called for a referendum on the stadium. The only village board member publicly opposed to a vote on the project is Trustee Richard Durava.

Two bond investment firms, John Nuveen and Smith, Barney, have proposed to represent the village in negotiations with Madison Square Garden Corp. and the Chicago Bears on Stadium Financing.

The village board voted Aug. 4 to retain the firms, but a formal contract, drawn by Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel for consideration tonight, still must be approved.

BOTH FIRMS have agreed to represent the village without charge. They would receive a commission if bonds for the stadium are issued.

Officers of Nuveen and Smith, Barney met with officials from Arlington Heights, Madison Square Garden and the Chicago Bears in a secret session last Wednesday.

The Arlington Heights Park Board has asked that the 450-acre Arlington Park property be disannexed from the Salt Creek Rural Park District and annexed to the Arlington Heights Park District so taxes from the race track development will benefit Arlington Heights Park District residents.

The Salt Creek district is entirely outside the Village of Arlington Heights except for the race track.

William Moore, attorney for Madison Square Garden, is opposed to the annexation and has labeled attempts to force the race track into the Arlington Heights Park District an act of "piracy."

THE TAX RATE for the Salt Creek Rural Park District is 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The Arlington Heights Park District tax rate is 36.6 cents per $100.

At the last board meeting Aug. 4, Trustee Frank Palmatier said he was inclined to support the Arlington Heights Park District's effort to get the race track land.

Annexation to the Arlington Heights Park District may be a prerequisite for Palmatier's vote approving any race track development, he said.

Also on the board's agenda tonight is a request to begin the second phase of development of Frenchman's Cove, a condominium townhouse project at Dundee Road and Carriage Way Drive.

THE PROJECT has been a problem to residents in nearby Buffalo Grove, who complained about weeds, standing water and soil erosion where Frenchman's Cove joins the Mill Creek subdivision. Edward Schwartz received four citations from the village because of the conditions.

'Son tortured then killed by military'

by STEVE BROWN

The family of a Des Plaines man who was killed in the aftermath of the 1973 overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende has been told he was executed by the military after being tortured.

Frank R. Teruggi Sr. the father of Frank R. Teruggi Jr., told The Herald he has received a letter from a Belgian citizen which reports other prisoners observed the torture and death of his son.

The elder Teruggi has been making inquiries for nearly two years in an effort to learn the circumstances surrounding his son's death. His son was a student at the University of Santiago.

The official Chilean government version of the incident contends Teruggi and his roommate were arrested for a curfew violation and detained for several days.

THE CHILEAN government contends that Teruggi was shot by a band of roving dissidents after being released from custody at the National Soccer Stadium, Santiago. However no release forms for Teruggi have ever been found.

The letter describing the torture and beating of Teruggi while in custody is the second report to conflict directly

Golf clubs, other gear stolen from autos

Arlington Heights police were investigating two recent car burglaries including one in which about $2,185 worth of golf clubs and other items were stolen from a Chicago man's car.

Robert Beaulien told police Thursday taken from his auto while parked at the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel were golf clubs, tennis raquets, briefcases, transistor radios, cigars and clothing.

B. J. Gill, 908 Leahy Circle East, Des Plaines, reported Saturday that golf clubs and a tire, valued at about $1,000 were stolen from his car while it was parked at Henrici's Steak and Lobster, 2375 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Kissinger ordered back to Mideast

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — President Ford Sunday ordered Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger back to the Middle East Wednesday to try to conclude an interim Israeli-Egyptian peace accord. Kissinger said "there is now a good chance of success."

Kissinger also said there was a good possibility "a small number" of American civilian volunteers might be used in the Sinai desert to alert Israel and Egypt if conflict threatened to break out again.

At a news conference here at Ford's vacation resort, Kissinger said "some details remain to be negotiated" before a second-stage agreement for further disengagement of forces in the Sinai can be nailed down.

Kissinger said that even if he succeeded on this trip, which Ford described as a "critically important mission," the resulting pact would still fall short of what is needed to insure an enduring peace.

All parties "agree that this will not be the end of the process" and that

Three held for robberies of busboys

Three persons were being held Sunday by Elk Grove Village police as suspects in a series of armed robberies of Mexican busboys in suburban Chicago.

Police identified the suspects as Helen Moreno, Arturo L. Marquachea and Jose Avila. No information on the charges was available Sunday.

The three appeared in lineups Saturday night before victims of robberies in Mount Prospect, Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Forest Park and Elmhurst.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE police started investigating the possible link between a busboy robbery in their jurisdiction and others in the Northwest and West suburbs. At that time, police said they were looking for a holdup gang led by a woman which had robbed busboys of money and immigration papers. They gained entry to the victims' rooms under the guise of solicitation for prostitution, police said.

Arlington Heights police said they solved the robbery of Antonio Almarez in July, but they could not file charges because Almarez has returned to Mexico.

Almarez was stabbed twice July 7 by three men in a downtown Arlington Heights apartment. Almarez's brother, a restaurant busboy, lived in the apartment, but was not home at the time of the incident.

Police also said it is suspected the Moreno woman was involved in a similar robbery several months ago of a busboy employed by the Golden Eagle Restaurant, 1432 N. Rand Rd. But police added the robbery was never reported to authorities, and the victim has returned to Mexico.

ON JUNE 23, Mexican males were robbed of $900 cash at the Old Orchard Country Club, Mount Prospect. The robbery did not involve a woman, police said.

Third life lost in Beck Lake

A Chicago youth, 16, drowned while swimming Saturday in Beck Lake, northeast of Des Plaines. He was the third drowning victim there this year. The youth, who was identified as Keith G. Mikota, 5453 Forest Glen, was pronounced dead on arrival at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, late Saturday afternoon. Assistant Chief Donald Long of the Glenview Rural Fire Protection District said the youth apparently drowned while attempting to swim to an island in the middle of the lake with some companions.

Decisions due on stadium

The Arlington Heights Village Board will be faced with making more decisions on the Arlington Park Race Track stadium at its meeting tonight. Listed on the board's agenda are a report by Village Pres James T. Ryan on a referendum on village financing for the stadium, a contract to hire two investment banking firms as bond counselors and a resolution from the Arlington Heights Park District, seeking annexation of the race track property. Ryan will ask the board to agree to set a villagewide binding referendum on the stadium proposal before it makes a final decision on the project.

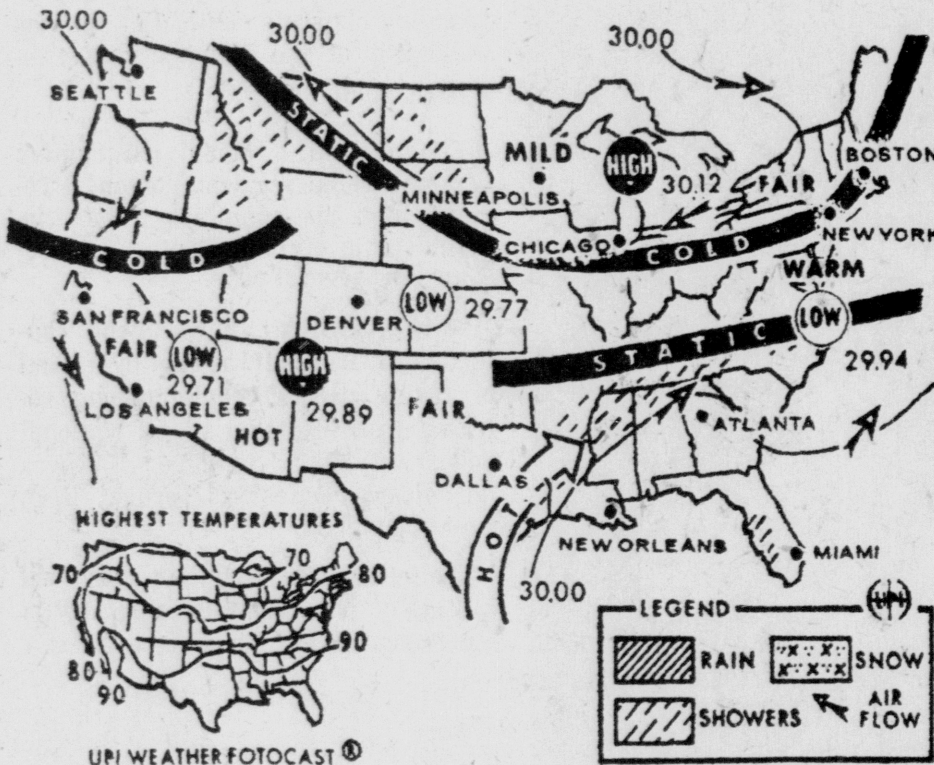

Aldermen pass on arena

Rolling Meadows aldermen, representing homeowners who live near Arlington Park Race Track, said they will not interfere with a referendum in Arlington Heights on the proposed Chicago Bears stadium to be located at the Arlington Heights Race Track. First ward Aldermen Raymond H. Neuckranz and Merrill A. Wuerch conducted a survey in July among residents in their ward who live closer to the proposed stadium site than any of the Arlington Heights voters who will mark their ballots in the referendum. The results indicated homeowners were against the stadium, but the city council declined to make any formal protest to Arlington Heights about the project.

5-foot-5 cops OKd

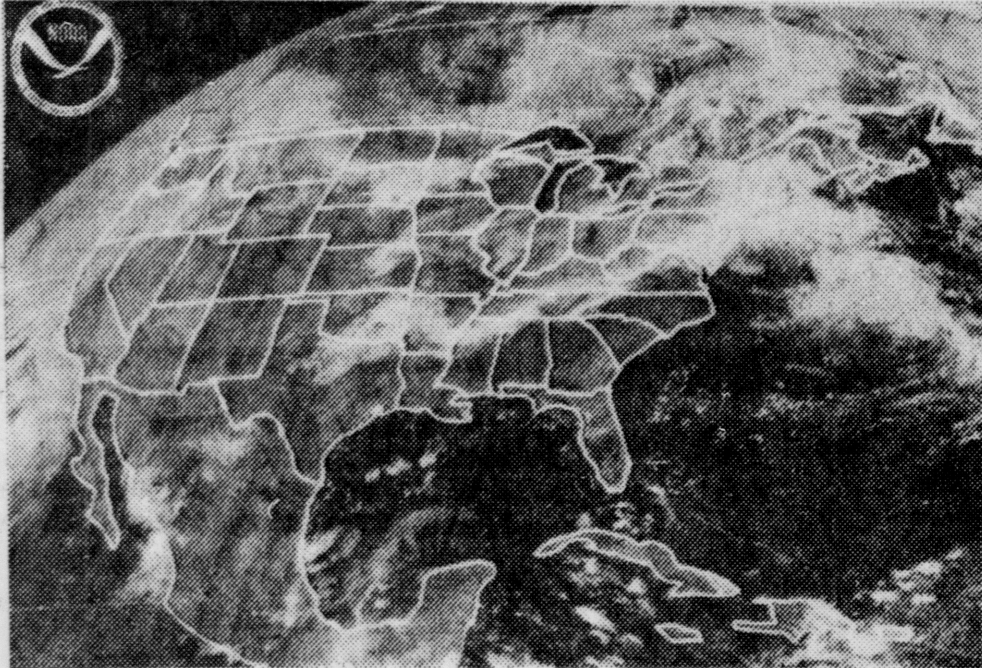

The Arlington Heights Fire and Police Commission has lowered the minimum height requirement for police personnel to 5 feet 5 inches. The commission voted to lower the requirement from 5 feet 8 inches because the old standard potentially was discriminatory and was not related to job performance. Gregory Ford, village personnel director, told the commission the previous height standard has been viewed as discriminating against Americans of Hispanic descent. Ford said the village would be hard pressed to defend the old standards in a suit filed in conjunction with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. The village would face a suspension of federal funds pending the outcome of such a court battle, such as happened to the city of Chicago recently, Ford said.

with the government version of Teruggi's death.

Teruggi's father had obtained another letter, which described his son being tortured, during a trip he made to Chile in February 1974.

Teruggi told The Herald the new information has been turned over to several government agencies, U.S. senators and congressmen.

Teruggi has provided information for several government investigations into possible American involvement in the overthrow of Allende.

THE NEWEST letter, which was written by Andre Van Lancker, Brussels, reports that a North American citizen named Frank had been interrogated and beaten several times between Sept. 20 and 22, 1973.

'There is now good chance of success'

Kissinger ordered back to Middle East

"we will only have traveled part of the road," Kissinger said. "Nevertheless, if it succeeds, it will be . . . a very big step," he said, "because it would be the first accord between an Arab state and Israel that was 'not under the immediate impact of military hostilities.'" Asked to assess the prospects, Kissinger said: "We think there is now a good chance of success or the President would not have authorized my return."

In Washington, Israeli Ambassador to the United States Simcha Dinitz met for 90 minutes with Undersecretary of State Joseph J. Sisco regarding Kissinger's trip.
"There are, of course . . . a number of issues to be resolved," Dinitz told reporters. He said Israel's action

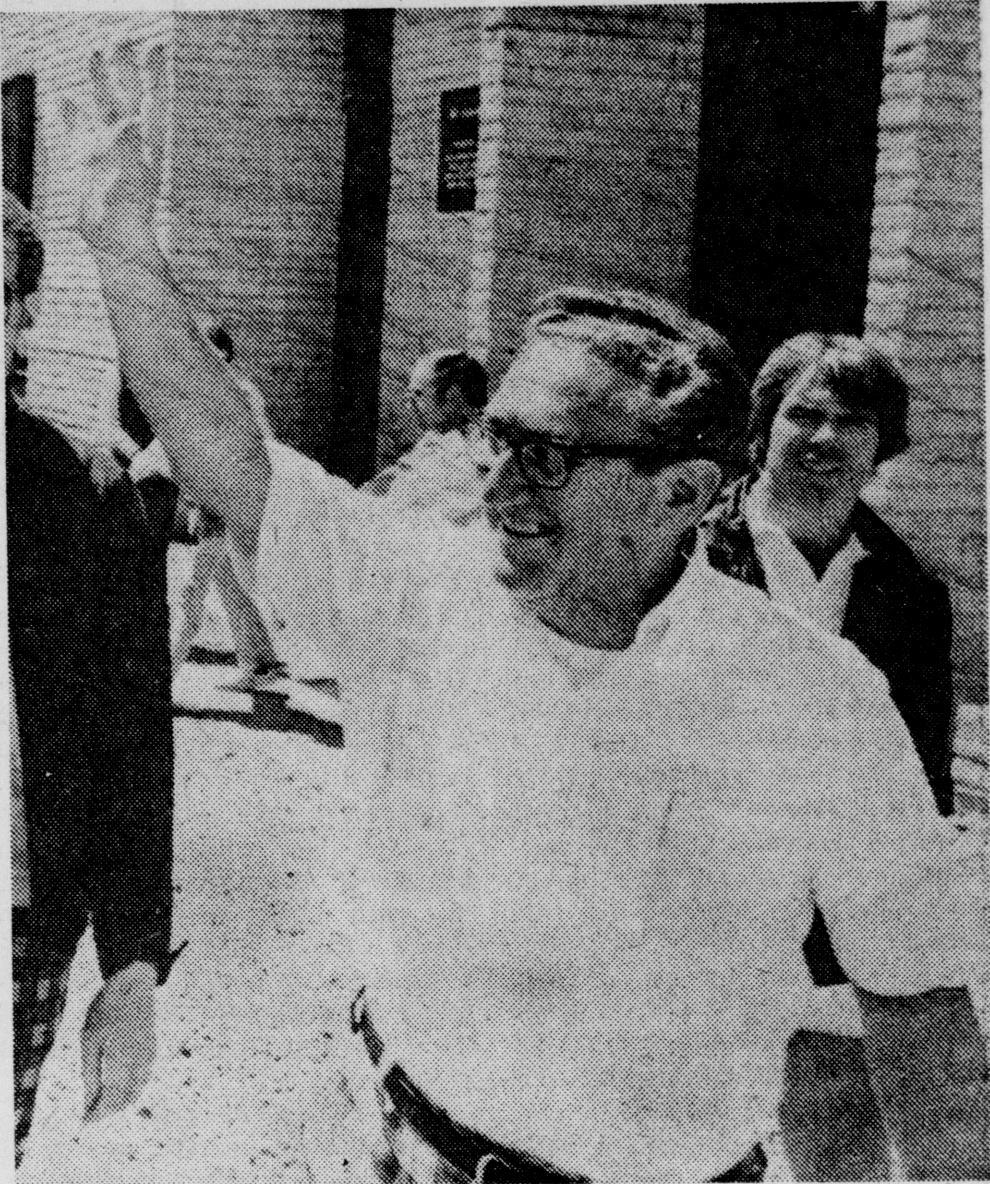

"should speak for itself" in showing Israel's desire for a settlement.
Kissinger said much more would have to be achieved for a permanent end to tensions in the Middle East, and said: "A lasting peace will have to settle the frontiers of Israel — not just with Egypt but with all its neighbors."
Kissinger, whose last attempt at shuttle diplomacy ended in failure in March, said he will leave Washington at midnight Wednesday and fly first to Tel Aviv for talks with Israeli leaders.

From there, he said he will meet Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Alexandria, and in a trip expected to run 10 days at the most, visit Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia to discuss the negotiations with other Arab leaders.

Ford announced Kissinger's mission in a statement issued after two days of consultations with the Secretary of State and after the Israeli cabinet, meeting Sunday in Jerusalem, formally approved tentative arrangements worked out by negotiators in meetings with American officials in Washington last week.

"I have worked many hours with the Secretary of State analyzing and assessing the situation in the Middle East, and I have now directed him to return to that region in an effort to bring the discussions to a successful conclusion," Ford's statement said.

"I am hopeful that the parties will successfully conclude an interim agreement which not only would be in the best interest of the parties involved but also in the best interest of the entire Middle East region and indeed of the whole world. I am sure all Americans join me in wishing the Secretary of State success on this critically important mission."

A HAPPY Secretary of State Henry Kissinger waves to tourists in Vail, Colo. after announcing he was going back to the Middle East Wednesday on a "critically important Mission."

Israel OKs broad outline of Sinai pact

by United Press International
Israel agreed Sunday to the broad outlines of a new Sinai troop withdrawal pact with Egypt.
Secretary of State Henry Kissinger announced at President Ford's vacation retreat in Vail, Colo., that he would leave for Israel Wednesday.
The Israeli cabinet announced its agreement after seven hours of debate on the status of the Kissinger-mediated negotiations, nearly two months old, but said agreement still must be reached on "a number of important subjects."
But rightwing Israeli opposition to the agreement became more vocal. The Young Herut wing of the Likud opposition party called on Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to reject American pressure. It planned a demonstration in front of the U.S. embassy Monday to protest the agreement.

Likud leader Menachem Begin said the government did not have a mandate from the people to withdraw from strategic territory. He said new elections should be called.
There was no immediate reaction from Cairo. The Middle East News Agency said President Anwar Sadat held talks in Alexandria Sunday with U.S. Senator William L. Scott, R-Va. Scott is on a Middle East tour which so far has included Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Syria.
Israeli sources said there were three main points still to be resolved before a new agreement could be signed and it was expected Kissinger could iron them out.

They were:
—Israeli insistence that Egypt not advance more than eight miles eastwards from its present line and not beyond the present U.N. buffer zone.
—Differences between Israel and Egypt amounting to yards on where the new Israeli line should be, particularly in the vicinity of the strategic Mitla and Gidi Mountain passes.
—Israeli insistence that it control its electronic spy post at Umm Khashiba in the Gidi Pass and that American technicians there constitute only a token presence.
The agreement would stipulate six spy posts in all, including two on the roads through each of the passes that would be manned entirely by Americans.

Seagram whisky heir rescued; suspects arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seagram's whisky heir Samuel Bronfman II was rescued by the FBI and police Sunday when one of his kidnapers felt "pangs of conscience" and led them to a Brooklyn apartment where young Bronfman had been held hostage for eight days.

The two alleged kidnapers were arrested and a $2.3 million cash ransom paid by his father was recovered.
Police arrested Dominick Byrne, 53, and Mel Patrick Lynch, both Irish-born naturalized Americans in connection with the kidnaping. Byrne, apologizing for the kidnaping, led police to Lynch's apartment where they found Bronfman blindfolded and bound sitting on a couch with Lynch standing guard.

J. Wallace LaPrade, director of the FBI's New York office, said the money was found in green plastic garbage bags under a bed in an apartment of "an innocent third party" a few blocks from where the youth was held.

"We have not counted the money but from the packaging, as far as we know, all the ransom money has been recovered," LaPrade said.
William Bean, special agent in charge of the FBI's Criminal Division, said the money was found in an apartment at 628 E. 17th St. in the same Flatbush neighborhood where young Bronfman was held captive.

"We discovered the money there and an automatic pistol and other evidence located in the bedroom under the bed," he said.

However, he said the tenant of that apartment, listed as Sam Greenberg, was "an innocent party. We're satisfied he's not involved."
The spokesman added that young Bronfman "is in really fine shape and his spirits are great."

FBI blames bout with 'fatigue'

Hoffa's wife is rushed to hospital

DETROIT (UPI) — Mrs. Josephine Hoffa, the ailing wife of missing former Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa, broke down on the 18th day of his disappearance Sunday and was rushed to a suburban hospital, the FBI said.
Detroit FBI headquarters said Mrs. Hoffa, who suffers from a heart condition and was due to undergo surgery for cataracts the day after her husband disappeared, was hospitalized because she was "suffering from fatigue from the whole ordeal."

The FBI said she was taken to a hospital near the family's summer home at Lake Orion, but refused to name the hospital. Hoffa's son-in-law, Robert Crancer, refused to comment from the Lake Orion home 40 miles from Detroit.
The Hoffas have been a deeply devoted couple. While he was serving 58 months in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison, Hoffa was granted furloughs to visit his wife because of her frail health.

His close attachment to her and their family is regarded as one of the strongest indications that he would not have arranged his own disappearance from the parking lot of a fashionable suburban restaurant July 30.
Hoffa has not been seen since and his wife, son and daughter have maintained a vigil at Lake Orion insisting they believe he is still alive somewhere and will come back to them.

A psychiatrist recently employed by the family to help in the search theorized Sunday that Hoffa had been abducted and grilled under the influence of drugs in order to discover what he had told or planned to tell a federal grand jury.
Dr. Bruce Danto, who used drugs and hypnosis himself to discover the names of the three men Hoffa planned to meet on his last rendezvous, advanced the theory.

GE, Panasonic 'lying' to TV buyers: FTC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government accused the makers of General Electric and Panasonic color television sets Sunday of lying to consumers about how well GE sets operate and how easy Panasonics are to repair.

The Federal Trade Commission said Matsushita, which makes Panasonic, claimed its Quatrecolor CT 701 set had been found "the easiest to service of all color televisions" in a test by the National Electronics Association.

In reality, the FTC said, tests "did not . . . establish that the Panasonic set was the easiest, least time-consuming or least expensive to service of all color television sets tested."

In the case of GE, the commission said, the company claimed that its sets required less service than Zenith or RCA.

"Independent surveys did not show that GE color television sets . . . required less service during the initial period of ownership or would require less service than all U.S. brands of color television sets . . ." the FTC said.

During the period involved, it said, GE had evidence which contradicted its own advertising on the service issue but it continued to make the pitch anyway.

The GE ads were based on a 1973 survey but were carried in 1974 and 1975. The survey cited by Matsushita was conducted during 1973.

The complaints — alleging false, misleading and deceptive advertising — were announced Sunday.

Disneyland singing dolls helped make Sherry happy

• Sherry Ann Garcia liked the singing dolls of Disneyland, but the submarine ride and the haunted house frightened her, the six-year-old's mother said Sunday. Sherry, suffering from an inoperable brain tumor, was flown to California in a private jet for a two day tour of the amusement park courtesy of a Denver-based air craft company. Dr. Gary Vanderark a neurosurgeon at Denver General Hospital said "There is nothing anyone can do to totally remove the tumor because it is in the vital area of the brain."

Philadelphia refinery burns out of control

An oil refinery complex burned out of control Sunday night in Philadelphia, touching off explosions and sending sheets of flame across a four square block area. Seven firemen were missing in the blaze. There were several explosions igniting a second, 11-alarm fire. Fire officials said at least 13 persons, including 10 firemen, were injured.

Viking may still get to Mars July 4th

Despite two launch cancellations, the first Viking lander may still touch down on Mars next July 4 in time for the nation's 200th birthday celebration, space agency officials said Sunday. Because of movements of the planets, the first Viking spacecraft, if launched on the latest schedule of 4:22 p.m. CDT Wednesday, should go into orbit around Mars on June 19, 1976. This would be only three days behind schedule, even though the launching was 10 days late.

U.S. seizes Soviet fishing trawler

A Soviet fishing trawler was seized in the Atlantic by the Coast Guard early Sunday on charges of violating a recently enacted U.S. law prohibiting the taking of lobster by foreign vessels on the continental shelf, the Coast Guard reported. The vessel was identified as the 247-foot stern trawler Zaraysk.

Portugal Communists vow action

The Communists Sunday accused "Fascist lackeys" of wrecking a Communist demonstration in the conservative farming central region of Portugal and vowed to "smash the counter-revolutionaries." Combat-equipped troops were rushed to the market town of Alcobaca early Sunday to break up a gun battle between an anti-Communist mob and Communist demonstrators that wounded more than 20 persons. The Communist party in Alcobaca said "We have sufficient power to respond and smash the counter-revolutionaries."

Good and bad economic news looms this week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government will have both good and bad economic news this week — figures will show a real gain in the Gross National Product, hard evidence the recession is over, but consumer prices will show a return to double digit inflation, economic officials said Sunday.
They said new figures will show the GNP has surged unexpectedly to its highest level in two years, but the Consumer Price Index will indicate a return to an annual inflation rate of 10 per cent or more.
One official said the GNP — the broad measure of the nation's output of goods and services — will show real growth in the period April through June after a 15-month economic slump.

Last month's preliminary report on GNP indicated a 0.3 per cent decline. But data revisions to be announced Thursday will boost the second quarter figure to the positive side for the first time since 1973, the official said.
"This is no consolation to the 7.8 million unemployed," he said. "But it is a clear sign that economic prospects are improving and that unemployment will be reduced."

On the other hand, another official said the monthly report expected this week on the Consumer Price Index — which measures the cost of living for urban families — will rise sharply to double-digit annual levels because of higher prices for food and gasoline.
In the early months of this year, the nation seemed to be making real headway against the inflationary trend that topped 12 per cent in 1974. But the rate took its biggest jump of the year last month -0.8 per cent for the month and a projected annual rate of 9.6 per cent and is expected to rise again for July.

The GNP data, however, will underscore positive aspects of the economy.
In other economic news:
• Experts of the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries will meet in Vienna Monday to consider how much the price of oil should be increased this fall. Predictions ranged from 10 to 35 per cent. A ministers meeting of the 13-nation oil cartel in Gabon in June decided to raise the price effective Oct. 1 but did not agree on how big the increase would be.

• Maritime union leaders who have threatened to block U.S. grain shipments to the Soviet Union will meet Monday with AFL-CIO President George Meany to plan ways of obtaining new economic concessions from President Ford and the Russians. The meeting was called by President Thomas W. Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Association. He said the grain will not move unless the administration comes up with evidence the sales will not inflate domestic food prices.

• Consumers may pay more for milk within a few weeks, dairy farmers warned Sunday, but they said shoppers should view the price hike as a safeguard against shortages and higher prices later. The National Milk Producers Federation said, "A moderate price increase in the weeks ahead could help to maintain milk production, relieving pressure for larger price increases later in the year as supplies grow even shorter."

You can get rid of varicose veins

Would you describe what can be done for varicose veins? Is an operation advisable and successful?

My married 21-year-old daughter has varicose veins. Her doctor does not advise an operation, he said she is too young. He also suggested that she should not become pregnant, due to these veins. She works in an office every day and does not get any exercise. Would some light exercise for the legs be better?

Varicose veins mean large, dilated veins that allow blood to accumulate in the legs and feet when standing or sitting. This leads to stagnant circulation in these areas.

Commonly, only the superficial veins are involved at first. They usually don't cause any harm, but for cosmetic reasons women often want them corrected. When the deep veins inside the leg are involved then you have more swelling and difficulties.

I agree that a young, married woman should try to avoid an operation until she has had all her family. Pregnancies often bring out varicose veins for the first time or make them worse. After all the pregnancies are over then removal of the superficial veins can be done.

The operation is simple and is called a stripping operation. A small incision is made at the top of the varicose vein and another at the bottom of the section to be removed. The segment is then stripped out and pulled through the small incision. All that you see of the incision are the small cuts, not a long incision. It is not an especially difficult operation for either the doctor or the patient.

The main point in protecting against the ill effects of varicose veins, or indeed in developing them, is to avoid overstretching the veins. The veins

The doctor says

by Laurence E. Lamb

are stretched from the pressure of accumulated blood during our upright posture and collapse when we lie down or elevate the feet. Elastic garments such as support hose put external pressure against the veins and prevent them from being over-stretched. There can be very useful for people who stand or sit long periods of time.

Walking helps to milk out the blood from the veins and also helps to prevent overstretching of the veins. Your daughter might do well to wear some form of support because of her job. Otherwise, exercise is of some, but limited use in preventing or treating varicose veins.

I am surprised that your doctor doesn't want your daughter to get pregnant because of the varicose veins. Certainly if she only has superficial vein involvement that seems a little conservative. If she has deep vein involvement with marked ankle swelling that is another question. Most women with superficial varicose veins get along all right with subsequent pregnancies. I do think that such women should wear an elastic support garment during pregnancy to help protect against further stretching from the pressure of the developing baby on the drainage of the veins.

Ordinance No. 1370

(An Ordinance to Establish an Appearance Commission) WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Wheeling, having determined that it is in the best interests of the said Village as more particularly hereinafter set forth, and will promote the public health, safety and general welfare of the residents of said Village, and will protect and enhance the property value in said Village, to adopt an Appearance Code of said Village.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Wheeling, County of Cook and State of Illinois, as follows: SECTION 1. That Title 2 of the Wheeling Municipal Code be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto Chapter 2.94 to read as follows: SECTION 2.94.010 Title. This Ordinance, including any regulation hereafter adopted shall be hereinafter known, cited and referred to as the Wheeling Appearance Code.

SECTION 2.94.020 Intent and Purpose. (a) To promote the public health, safety, morals, comfort and welfare of the citizens of said Village. (b) To enhance the values of property throughout the said Village.

(c) To protect and to stabilize the general appearance of buildings, structures, landscaping and open areas, in the multiple dwelling, business, commercial, planned development, new subdivisions, public lands and industrial zoning district of said Village.

(d) To insure adequate light, air and privacy for property in the multiple dwelling, business, commercial planned development, new subdivisions, public lands and industrial zoning district of the said Village.

(e) To encourage and promote acceptability, attractiveness, cohesiveness and compatibility of new buildings, development, remodeling and additions so as to maintain and improve the established standards of property values within the multiple dwelling, business, commercial, planned development, new subdivisions, public lands and industrial zoning districts of the said Village. SECTION 2.94.030 Appearance Commission - Creation and Term of Office. There is hereby created an Appearance Commission, to consist of five members appointed by the Village President with the approval of the Board of Trustees. The term of office for such members shall be for three years and until his or her successor is appointed and shall qualify; however, provided that the term of one member first appointed shall expire on June 30, 1976 and the term of appointment of one other member shall expire on June 30, 1977. The term of the third member shall expire on June 30, 1978. The term of the fourth member shall expire on June 30, 1979, while the term of the fifth member shall expire on June 30, 1980. The president shall have the power to remove any member of the commission for cause after a public hearing before the board of trustees, and such removal shall be subject to confirmation by a majority of the members of the corporate authorities of the Village.

The corporate authorities, by ordinance, not inconsistent with this chapter, may prescribe the duties, define the power and fix the term of membership of all members. Vacancies therein shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. If any of the subject members resigns, he or she shall continue in office until his or her successor has been appointed. If there is a failure to appoint a member, or the person so appointed fails to qualify, the person filling the membership shall continue to serve until his or her successor has been chosen and has qualified. If a member misses three consecutive meetings without notification or good cause, the seat shall become vacant. If such member ceases to perform the duties of or to hold his appointment by reason of death, permanent physical or mental disability, conviction of a disqualifying crime or dismissal or abandonment of the appointment for a period in excess of twenty calendar days, the president may appoint a temporary successor to the commission for a period not to exceed sixty calendar days.

SECTION 2.94.040 Qualification. All members shall be residents of the Village and shall serve without compensation. All efforts shall be made to have the membership consist of registered architects, landscape architects, estate appraisers and land planners. If possible, one member shall be the owner or an officer of a firm owning business, commercial or industrial property in the Village.

In making appointments to the Commission, the President shall seek to appoint as members, persons who are recognized as expert in matters of aesthetic judgment by virtue of training, education and experience and possessing qualities of impartiality and broad judgment. The members of the Commission shall, before entering into the official duties, severally take the oath of office prescribed by law for Village officials. No member of the Commission shall participate in discussions or vote on requests of a Certificate of Appropriateness from any client he is serving or from any business of which he is owner, or corporation officer or employee.

Legal Notices

Section 2.94.050 Chairman. The President, with the approval of the Board of Trustees, shall appoint one of the members to serve as Chairman. The Chairman shall have power to administer oaths.

Section 2.94.060 Vacancies. Vacancies on said Commission shall be filled for the unexpired term of the member whose place has become vacant in the same manner in which original appointments are required to be made. Section 2.94.070 Meetings, Quorum, Records. Meetings of the Appearance Commission shall be held at the call of the chairman, and shall be called whenever an application for a Certificate of Appropriateness is submitted for consideration. Three members shall constitute a quorum. The Chairman shall be entitled to be counted in determining a quorum and to vote as a member. All meetings shall be open to the public. The Commission shall keep minutes of its proceedings and shall keep records of its examinations and other official action. The Commission may adopt its own rules of procedure not inconsistent with the Ordinance. Roberts Rules of Order shall be followed unless the Ordinance is in conflict with other adopted rules.

Section 2.94.080 Powers and Duties. The Appearance Commission shall have the following powers and duties: (a) To hold public hearings on and make recommendations for an Appearance Plan as hereinafter provided.

(b) To consult with and cooperate with the Plan Commission, other Village departments and any other municipal or governmental bodies on matters affecting the appearance of the Village.

(c) To study exterior design drawings, landscape and site plans and materials for any proposed public works or public improvements and to make recommendations to the Board of Trustees or Village Manager as to the architectural or aesthetic aspects thereof. (d) To hold hearings, when required, on the issuance of Certificates of Appropriateness as provided in Section 2.94.120 hereof, in connection with questions pertaining to applications for building permits and to issue or deny such Certificates, pursuant to the provisions of said Section 2.94.130 hereof.

Section 2.94.090 Appearance Plan. The Appearance Commission shall, within six (6) months after their appointment, prepare a proposed Appearance Plan to apply to the multiple family, business, commercial, planned development, new subdivisions, public lands and industrial zoning districts of the Village. Said appearance plan shall be based on the intent and purpose of ordinance which said plan shall be intended as the standards or guidelines for future physical developments, in said zoning district and should consider, amongst other features:

(a) The external architectural features (as herein defined) of proposed buildings and landscaping and site planning thereof. (b) Existing Village ordinances and as amended, as to, but not limited to, zoning, building, subdivision, trees and shrubs; provided, however, nothing in said Appearance Plan shall conflict with, modify or alter any provisions of the zoning, building or subdivision ordinance.

Section 2.94.100 Public Hearing. After agreeing on a proposed Appearance Plan, the Commission shall hold a public hearing thereon. A copy of the plan shall be on file in the office of the Village Clerk for public inspection. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation in Wheeling, not more than thirty (30) days before the hearing. Written notice shall also be mailed (ordinary mail) to each property owner/occupant within a radius of 500 feet of property involved not more than thirty (30) and not less than fifteen (15) days before the hearing. The hearing may be adjourned from time to time. Within thirty (30) days after final adjournment, the Commission shall recommend a final Appearance Plan to the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall thereafter at a public meeting, consider the proposed Plan and if it so desires, may adopt the same in whole or in part, with or without change. The Appearance Plan, as adopted, shall be by ordinance.

Section 2.94.120 Amendments. The Appearance Plan may be amended, from time to time, by the Board of Trustees or by the Board of Trustees after receiving a recommendation from the Commission regarding a proposed amendment. The Commission can make a recommendation only after holding a public hearing, after notice as set forth in Section 2.94.100 hereof.

Section 2.94.130 Regulatory Powers of Commission over External Architectural Features of Buildings and Structures. (a) After adoption of a plan, no building or other permit, otherwise required under the ordinances of the Village, for the erection, construction, alteration or repair of any building or structure in a multiple dwelling, business, commercial, planned development, public lands and industrial zoning districts shall be issued by the Building Commissioner except upon the granting of a Certificate of Appropriateness by the Appearance Commission. The foregoing requirement shall not preclude the issuance of a building permit without such certificate if the Building Commissioner shall determine that no external architectural feature as defined in Section 2.94.130 is involved in the work for which the building permit is sought.

(b) Certificate of Appropriateness - Preliminary Consideration. The Appearance Commission shall, at the written request of a prospective applicant for a Certificate of Appropriateness, give consideration to preliminary exterior drawings, sketches, landscape and site plans and materials on a specific project before a formal application is filed, and shall provide such advice, counsel, suggestions and recommendations on matters pertaining to aesthetics as they may deem necessary to guide said prospective applicant in the development of a plan which would comply with the requirements and purposes of the Appearance Plan; except that the Commission shall act in an advisory capacity only, with regard to preliminary plans, and shall provide consultation only on projects for which preliminary drawings and materials are furnished by said prospective applicant, and shall not participate in the development of the basic concept, plans or drawings. All hearings on preliminary plans are to be public and are to be held in accordance with the provisions and requirements provided for in Section 2.94.100. Upon finding the preliminary exterior drawings, sketches, landscape and site plans and materials are appropriate to, or compatible with, the character of the immediate neighborhood and tend to effect the general purposes of the Appearance Plan, the Commission will issue a preliminary approval. Said approval will be irrevocable and makes the issuance of the Certificate of Appropriateness mandatory upon application, unless the final presentation does not comply in all respects with the preliminary presentation upon which the preliminary approval was based.

Section 2.94.140 Certificate of Appropriateness - Final Hearings. Upon the filing of an application for building permit for which a Certificate of Appropriateness is or may be required, the Building Commissioner shall immediately transmit said application to the Appearance Commission. The fact that an application for a Certificate of Appropriateness has been filed shall not be cause for the Building Commissioner to delay the review of plans relating to the building and zoning aspects of the project, while said application is pending. The said Commission shall thereupon fix a reasonable time, within fifteen (15) days, for a hearing and give a written five (5) day notice thereof to the applicant. Upon such hearing the Commission shall consider the application for building permit and if necessary receive additional evidence (such as exterior elevation renderings) from the applicant or his agent or attorney and from Village personnel or other persons as to whether the external architectural features of the proposed building or structure comply with said appearance plan. All testimony given at such hearing shall be under oath.

Section 2.94.150 Action of Appearance Commission. If preliminary consideration has not been requested under the terms and provisions of Section 2.94.130, prior to making its decision, the Commission may make recommendations to the applicant as to changes in the exterior drawings, sketches, landscape, site plans and materials which in the judgment of the Commission would tend to effect the general purposes of the appearance plan. The Commission shall make its decision within fifteen (15) days after the hearing is closed and shall issue to the Building Commissioner a Certificate of Appropriateness, unless the Commission finds that the said plan does not conform to the said Appearance Plan and that the proposed building or structure will be inappropriate to, or incompatible with, the character of the immediate neighborhood and cause substantial depreciation in property values. If preliminary hearings have been held on the project for which application is being made, the preliminary approval has been issued by the Commission as provided in Section 2.94.130, the Commission shall issue a Certificate of Appropriateness immediately, provided that the final drawings, plans and materials as presented comply in all respects with the preliminary presentation upon which the Preliminary Approval was based.

Section 2.94.160 Denial by Appearance Commission. The Commission shall not deny a Certificate of Appropriateness except upon the concurring vote of three (3) members.

Section 2.94.170 Approval by President and Board of Trustees. The Appearance Commission is an advisory commission only. All rulings of the Commission shall be submitted to the President and Board of Trustees for final decision. The Commission shall file a transcript of the proceedings along with its findings with the President and Board of Trustees on or before 15 days after it makes its decision. The President and Board of Trustees may overrule, approve, modify or amend, wholly or in part, the Commission's findings, with or without a hearing by a majority vote.

Section 2.94.180 Follow-up Building and Zoning Director. Upon the granting of a Certificate of Appropriateness, the exterior drawings, sketches, landscape and site plans, materials upon which said Certificate was granted shall be turned over to the Building Commissioner whose responsibility it shall be to determine, from time to time, that there have been no unauthorized deviations from the evidence upon which the granting of the Certificate of Appropriateness was originally based.

Section 2.94.190 Definitions. The term "external architectural feature" is defined to mean the architectural style and general arrangement of such portion of a building or structure as is designed to be open to view from a public street, place or way, including the kind, color and texture of the building material of such portion and the types of windows, doors, lights, porches or ground signs and other fixtures appurtenant to such portion.

SECTION B. If Ordinances or parts of Ordinances thereof, in force at the time this ordinance shall take effect, are inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter, the more restrictive provision shall govern.

SECTION C. The invalidity of any section or provision of this ordinance hereby adopted shall not invalidate other sections or provisions thereof.

SECTION D. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of these Sections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not to exceed $500.00 as provided in Chapter 1.04 of the Wheeling Municipal Code. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION E. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 11th day of August, 1975. Trustee Cole, Aye; Trustee Hedlund, Aye; Trustee Hein, Absent; Trustee Jackson, Aye; Trustee Kerr, Aye; Trustee Monson, Aye.

APPROVED this 12th day of August, 1975. TED C. SCANTLON Village President

Opinion divided on value of drug analysis

tempting to dissuade young people from drug use. Drug use is something that is here. It exists, and we are not going to stop it or start it by a drug analysis program. If a kid wants to get a drug, he can get it."

The theory that drug analysis encourages drug abuse simply doesn't hold water, Russell said.

"We are not condoning drug use any more than we are condoning promiscuous sex by giving information on birth control," he said.

There are two major benefits of a drug analysis program in Russell's opinion. It "provides good accurate information to kids using street drugs," he said, and it "can put drug users or drug abusers in touch with drug counseling or a youth service agency."

An analysis program "may, in fact, help prevent some overdoses," Russell said. The results of analyses show that drugs pushed on the street often are "not what they are purported to be." Tests show that many times animal tranquilizers are substituted for LSD, and those drugs are more harmful when taken in large doses. Some pushers mix strychnine, a rat poison, into LSD.

Recently, $20,000 in public funds was released by Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott to establish four additional drop-off centers in the Chicago area. Although drug analysis has been rejected by the Regional Youth Services Bureau, it is still possible that a drop-off center may be established in the Northwest suburbs.

Local youth agencies still are free to refer drug abusers to one of the five drop-off centers now in operation. One local agency, Spectrum Youth Service Bureau in Schaumburg Township, has been using the drop-off center at the Irene Josselyn Clinic in Northfield for more than a year. Test results are compiled each month, and they tell the story of the drug scene in the Northwest suburbs.

The seminar is open to the public and admission is free.

Two achieve rank of Eagle Scout

Tim Tatlock and Jim Marquardt, members of Boy Scout Troop 37, recently earned the rank of Eagle Scout.

A formal presentation of their awards will be made at a Court of Honor Dinner Oct. 3.

Tatlock, 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stehmeier of Arlington Heights. Marquardt, 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marquardt of Arlington Heights.

Troop 37 is sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League of St. Peter Lutheran Church.

about 2:40 a.m. by a man who was returning to his car after reporting his car had been broken into, police said.

Robert Moore, Mount Prospect, told police eight-track tapes, a gold ring and other items were taken from his car parked in the 1600 block of E. Campbell St.

When Moore returned to his car, he saw three men near Windsor Drive and Kensington Road carrying merchandise, police said. He stopped one of the men, but the other two fled, police said.

Police were continuing an investigation into the car burglaries.

Parks finalist in national competition

The Arlington Heights Park District has been selected as a National Gold Medal Finalist in park and recreation management by the Sports Foundation, Inc.

The award is determined by the degree of planning, creativity and flexibility exhibited in meeting the recreational needs of the community. Other criteria include planning for future development and the degree of community involvement and support.

The winner will be announced at the National Recreation and Park Assn. Congress Oct. 19-23 in Dallas.

Arlington Heights is competing in Class III, which includes communities with populations of 50,000 to 100,000. Other Class III finalists are the Parks and Recreation Division of Kettering, Ohio; and the City of Tempe, Ariz., Parks and Recreation Dept.

This is the third year the Arlington Heights Park District has been selected as a finalist.

NEW MISS BUFFALO Grove, Maribeth Ellis, is captured in two moods by Herald Photographer Mike Seeling . . . one showing her joy at winning the crown and the other while singing Mozart's "Hallelujah" in the pageant Saturday at Buffalo Grove High School. The Wheeling High School graduate competed against nine other contestants from Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove and Wheeling.

3 learn to play music at Suzuki Institute

Carla Fox, Diane Rukstales and Scott Reynolds, all of Arlington Heights, participated this summer in the American Suzuki Institute at the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point campus.

The institute drew nearly 2,000 young musicians, their parents and teachers from across the nation. The Suzuki method, developed in Japan about 35 years ago, is based on the concept that any child can learn to play an instrument and focuses on imitation and repetition.

Youth choir concert

The Accents, a 43-voice youth choir from Rockford, will present an inspirational concert at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 22 at Meadows Baptist Church, 2401 Kirchoff Rd., Rolling Meadows.

The program will include contemporary arrangements as well as hymns of the church. The concert also will be highlighted by The Puppets.

suburban living

TROTting ALONG behind Tuula Koskinen of Finland are her two charges, Chris, 6, and Greg, 3. While working as a summer girl for the Raymond Vogts of Schaumburg, Tuula followed her own physical fitness program of walking, bicycling, gymnastics and two-mile jogging.

DRYING DISHES is more fun than work for Karen Hruska, 8, when she does them with Ellen Janssen, the Hruskas' summer girl from Wisconsin. Ellen, 18, will leave Schaumburg in mid-September to continue her studies at a Milwaukee business college.

Mother's helpers

Now they call them 'summer girls'

by ELEANOR RIVES

They call them "summer girls." They come from little rural towns like DePere, Wis.; from states like Nebraska, Iowa, Michigan, southern Illinois; from as near as Lake Zurich, from as far as Finland. They see the ad in their local paper and they come for a change of scenery, or because, except for waitress and baby-sitting, summer jobs are scarce at home, or for the adventure of being near a big, exciting city. This summer an established practice in the North Shore has gained momentum in the northwest suburbs. It is the hiring of girls from 14 to 20 years old to "live in" with a family for the summer, help with the children, and do light housekeeping. IN RETURN, the girl gets her own room, sometimes her own bathroom, her meals, inclusion in all family activities and excursions, a day off, a small salary and sometimes help with transportation or a season's end bonus. Whatever the reason, want-ads are the usual medium through which these mothers' helpers get in touch either with an agency or directly with the family that needs help. Trying to track down agencies is an elusive process. Two, both in the North Shore area, are Traycee's Domestic Agency in Highland Park and Joyce and Penny Services in Glencoe. JOYCE STERN and her sister, Penny, started their business only this year after noting how many of their friends had summer girls. First they became licensed as a private employment agency. Next they compiled a questionnaire for clients: What age girl are they looking for? How many children do they have? What ages? Do they prefer a girl who does not smoke, who likes animals, who can swim or drive a car? Then they worked out an advertising program, reaching mainly into small farm towns. "The idea is to match girls to families as ideally as possible," said Joyce. All arrangements are made by telephone. For this service, they charge a flat

$25 with a one-week guaranty that the match will work out. Next year the fee will probably be higher. Family and girl reach their own agreement on salary, which range from $25 to $40 a week. THIS YEAR Joyce and Penny Services procured summer girls for families in Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Wheeling and Schaumburg. Traycee's Domestic Service in Highland Park, also in its first year of operation, placed summer girls in Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, Des Plaines and Palatine. Barbara Shlossman makes a point of super-screening her applicants, taking a personal interest in both employer and employee. Summer girls begin work the end of May or first week in June. It is suggested that families interested in procuring such help contact an agency some time in March. Joyce and Penny Services may be reached at 835-1176, Traycee's at 831-5530. THE LARRY Rodkins of Buffalo Grove have a summer girl. Beth, who hails from Lincoln, Neb., came to live with them June 12. Though not quite 15 years old, she capably took over minding the two children, a 10-month-old baby and a 3-year-old. She also took care of her own room and assisted with light housekeeping. "With seven sisters and brothers," she said, "I've done a lot of baby-sitting." How has it worked out? "Fantastic," said Mrs. Rodkin. "If she will come back, I definitely want her next year." TUULA KOSKINEN, 20, a law student from Helsinki, Finland, became a summer girl in an entirely different manner. She came to the United States through the Finnish Ministry of Labor's "Family Program." The object of her visit was to improve her English and to learn about life in America. What better way than to live with an American family! What simpler way to meet living expenses than to become a summer girl! However, her placement turned out to be an unhappy one. When the Raymond Vogts of Schaumburg advertised for a summer girl, Tuula left the first family and came to live with the Vogts, helping with their two boys, aged 3 and 6, and doing light housekeeping. THERE ARE advantages and disadvantages to hiring a girl from a foreign country, both employer and employee admit. Her interest in housekeeping and child care is apt to be subordinate to her interest in absorbing the culture of the country. Her own ideas and customs may conflict with local standards. Her food preferences may differ from that of an American family. For the girl herself, "it is more of a learning experience, not a money-making proposition," according to Tuula, who pointed out that the flight both ways is very expensive. "The student should have some voice in selecting the family she will work for," she said, referring to her first placement. "Perhaps there should be other options." THE VOGTS treated Tuula as a family member, including her in their social activities. They took her to a Sunday flea market, to Rockford, to visit a class at Northern Illinois University. The relationship on both sides was a flexible one. Tuula cut her employment short so she could see more of the U.S. before she returned to Finland. She intends to return to America next year, but not as a summer girl. Probably she will join a one-week Canadian travel program for students. Ellen Janssen, 18, is the summer girl for Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hruska of Schaumburg and their three children, ages 10, 8 and 4. From DePere, Wis., a small town near Green Bay, Ellen is one of seven children. The Hruska children took to her right away — and she to them. "WATCHING the kids is her most important duty — that's why she was hired," said Mrs. Hruska, a beautician, adding that it was a relief never to worry about last-minute sitters when they go out or she is detained at the shop. Ellen does dishes, makes lunches, helps with dinner, folds laundry, vacuums occasionally and dusts. The fact that she is 18 carries with it two important fringe benefits: she can drive the car and she can take the youngest Hruska to the pool to swim. "There's a lot more to do here than in Wisconsin," said Ellen. To the Hruskas, she is like a member of the family and they include her in all their activities. How does the man of the house feel about having an extra member in the family? "It's great," he said. "I wish she would stay forever."

Denim: the common denominator

(UPI's Walter Logan and the Herald's Karen Thompson report on fashion's latest fabric rage, denim.) The whole world is drowning in a sea of denim and there is more to come. As a matter of fact there is so much denim they are calling it the "common denominator of the people" and the "security blanket of the century." Somebody even spoke of a new denimocracy. The designers have moved in and have taken denim wear out of the corral and the college campuses into the drawing room, the board room and even some of the less staid night clubs. It started in Nimes, France, back during the Middle Ages and was known as Serge de Nimes, soon anglicized to denim. Christopher Columbus used it for sails on the Santa Maria because it was so tough. IT SPREAD to India where sailors from the seaport town of Dhunga climbed into heavy cotton denim pants and called them "Dhungarees." Italian sailors wore them in the port of Genoa and their pants got to be called Genoaese and then jeans, now spelled with a "j."

Fashion by Karen

They were popularized in the United States during the 1849 Gold Rush when Levi Strauss noticed some threadbare miners and made some copper-riveted pants strong enough to hold nuggets. Cowboys took them up because they were tough enough to withstand the sagebrush. The very first 1896 Sears catalog featured a wide variety of jeans and shirts not unlike what's available today. The thing now is to make them look lived in — a development thought to have started at St. Tropez. Word is that a New York boutique called Serendipity has a man who tramples them in a big vat of Chlorox and water softeners like European peasants trampling out grapes.

RECYCLED denim is incredibly popular because it has the old look. And the reason it looks old is that somebody has worn out a garment and it has been made back into cloth. Sometimes the recycling is done by sewing on patches, then patches on the patches. There are lots of new ideas. Sedgwick, for example, has what it calls its "do nothing" jeans and jackets — fixed with a new process called Sanfor-Set, which brings them out of the dryer wrinkle free and pucker proof. Pucker proof means the collar and pocket tabs don't turn up like dried leaves and the seams remain straight. The industry used 468 million square yards of denim last year — maybe 15 square miles — and 87 per cent of this was in indigo blue cotton. Some of the recycled denim sells for more than the brand new denim. A pair of jeans can cost anywhere from $8 to $100. Denim is worn by both sexes, all ages. Women's stores devote entire sections to new denim designs in jum-pers, dresses, vests, skirts, hats, handbags and trusty old jeans. There's hardly a facet in fashion apparel that hasn't been modeled from denim. Wrangler has revived the coverall and the one-piece jumpsuit that features an industrial zipper hidden under the fly, patch pockets on the chest, an inset belt and slashed pockets. JOHN KARL of Flo Toronto took a few yards and turned it into a men's three-piece vest suit with rope shoulders, curved lapels and pockets with stitched accent styling. There are also a few new things for the kids. Ely Lil' Kids produced a boy's brass buttoned vest and overall. Wrangler is showing a pile-lined jacket with matching jeans for juvenile sizes through 7. For the school kids, Phyllis Berens for Magic Years comes out with a railroad striped cotton denim apron with bright red binding and buttons and a deep pocket across the front to hold practically anything. Prayed denim skirt pictured is available at J.C. Penney's.

Insect near fruit probably a midge

Dear Dorothy: Whenever I have fruit on the kitchen counter, tiny insects fly around. They seem to come through the kitchen window screen. Are these fruit flies? How can I get rid of them? — Dena Horwitz.

Sounds like the aquatic midge, which does not breed indoors. Closing the window should stop them. The aquatic midge is totally different from the fruit fly, which can spread all over a house if not eliminated quickly.

Small but with prominent wings, fruit flies lay eggs and the resultant broods drive people daffy. The rapid changes in government approvals and disapprovals of insecticides make it questionable how long a piece of advice will stand, but my newest check with the Department of Agriculture lists these for the control of fruit flies: DDVP, pyrethrum, malathion or diazinon. Any of these has enough residual quality to take care of subsequent hatchings.

Dear Dorothy: We love bananas. But no matter how I handle them, some always get overripe. I read they can be fried, but the piece gave no real information how to do it, and what for. Can you help? — Priscilla Quigley.

The homeline

by Dorothy Ritz

Frying isn't for overripe bananas. It's simply to use them a different way. They make a great garnish for all kinds of dishes. Just peel all-yellow or green-tipped bananas and cut in half lengthwise. Melt a couple of tablespoons of shortening in the skillet so you can turn the bananas easily and, using moderate heat, cook them until tender. It takes about 10 to 12 minutes. Sprinkle them lightly with salt. Not only do they dress up a dish, they add an unusual taste fillip.

Dear Dorothy: After opening a can of pimientos, I pour off the liquid, cover the pimientos with vinegar and they last for weeks in the refrigerator. — Jodie Millikan.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Fiorito

Elk Grove pair repeat wedding vows July 12

An Elk Grove Village couple, Kathleen Lynn Monegato and Ronald Joseph Fiorito, repeated marriage vows July 12 in Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit in Elk Grove and are now residing in a Hoffman Estates home.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Monegato, Elk Grove, and Joseph Monegato, Schiller Park, and the groom, son of the Eugene Floritas, Elk Grove, were married in a 4 p.m. double ring service. A dinner reception for 225 guests was held at The Party Villa in Chicago after which the newlyweds left on a four-day honeymoon at Lodge of the Four Seasons, Lake Ozark, Mo.

BOTH ARE GRADUATES of Elk Grove High School, Kathleen in 1974 and Ronald in 1971. Kathleen is employed by a plastic products firm in Elk Grove Village and Ronald by a construction company in Skokie.

Pam Monegato was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were her sister, Patti, and Cheryl Hermansen, Elk Grove, and the groom's cousin, Dina Monaco, Hoffman Estates. Louie Hermansen, Elk Grove, was best man, and the bride's brother, Joey, the groom's cousin, Denis, Park Ridge, and Bill Gore, Elk Grove, were ushers.

Ask Andy

No animals means no humans...

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Greg Kelly, 11, of Lancaster, Pa., for his question:

COULD HUMANS SURVIVE WITHOUT THE ANIMALS?

Common sense and courteous consideration tell us that humans could not survive without the earth's assorted animals. But, sad to say, in this day and age common sense and courteous consideration seem to be out of style. When we learn to trust these noble qualities again, many of our bewildering problems will be solved. In the meantime we must spell out valid reasons why this whacky idea cannot possibly work.

Let's first give an answer to those coldhearted characters who feel that the whole world must bow down to please them. Naturally they might like to see the end of all the animals that have their rightful share of the earth. The rest of us, including all of Andy's pen pals, of course, would feel miserably lost without the beautiful butterflies and tuneful birds, the furry mammals and all the other creatures — including both the pests and the charmers.

Sensible folk also appreciate the animals because they have so much to teach us. Each species must cope with certain strict laws of nature — and so must we. For example, by observing how groups of animals share a given environment, we see that they must give and take and depend upon each other in order to survive. This, of course, is the basic answer to today's question.

The world of nature teems with a multitude of different plants and animals. And all depend on the special environments provided by the earth. However, each species makes its own special contribution to keep its environment in good working order. For example, animals enrich the soil and provide carbon dioxide for the plants. The plants provide oxygen and basic food for all living things — including humans.

If some ghastly catastrophe wiped out all the animals, most likely the human family would soon perish also. Possibly we could make oxygen and a few dreary foods by costly chemical means. But eventually, people would die from loneliness, boredom and downright selfishness.

Sometimes we want to wipe out a certain species, such as the pesky mosquito. This is natural, especially when we get stung. However, mosquitos provide food for bats, certain birds and other animals, and their bodies add tons of plant food to the soil. The schemes of nature that support our lives are upset when even a single species of animal is wiped out. The loss of all the animals would create an impossible world for mankind.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Alex Panigutti, 10, of Calgary, Alta., Canada, for his question:

WHICH CAME FIRST, THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG?

This is one of those questions that a number of readers ask every week of the year. So please do not feel sad or mad because your question was not selected. After all, Andy can choose only one for the column. There is no limit to the number of good questions, so please try another. This one will not be answered again until the next generation of young readers gets curious about it.

Maybe you thought this was a trick question, with no sensible answer. Not so. True, an egg comes from a chicken that came from an egg and so on and on back to who knows what or when. Or so it seems. Actually, the original birds came from the dinosaur eggs. So eggs, reptile eggs, came before any of the birds. The chickens came long after the eggs of their remote ancestors.

Do you have a question to Ask Andy? Send it on a post card with your name, age and complete address to Ask Andy, in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 680, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60016. Entries open to girls and boys 7 to 17.

Once die is cast—play those cards fast

Jim: "Traditionally, a four-level, vulnerable, preemptive bid should be made with an eight-trick hand that has little or no defense against any other suit. South's preempt had another feature. He thought he might make it even if partner held very little."

Oswald: "When South looked at dummy things didn't appear to be satisfactory. Dummy's ace and king of clubs were unavailable to help South while they would be sure tricks against any East-West contract."

Jim: "East played the queen of diamonds on his partner's king and West continued with a low diamond. South ruffed and decided the best line of play would be to run off trumps quickly and hope that his opponents would hang on to clubs."

Win at bridge by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Oswald: "The play worked beautifully. As each additional spade was led, the discarding by East and West got more and more painful. But all these painful discards were red cards. Eventually, after the eighth trump was led, East did discard a club, but it didn't matter. West was down to the ace of hearts and three clubs. A heart threw him in and he had to give South his contract."

Herald opinion

Tobacco policy
contradictory

Our federal government is in the ridiculous position of supporting good health while encouraging American agriculture to produce crops to endanger it.

This dilemma was underscored last week when Ralph Nader's Health Research Group reported that the government spends 70 times more money propping up tobacco than it does educating the public about the health hazards of smoking.

The attack came in a letter to President Ford from the Nader group, which asked him to halt the 42-year-old, $60 million federal price support program. Not only does the program encourage the increased production of tobacco, it also is an unnecessary part of our much-too-large Federal budget.

Nader's group is right on target with its criticism. The government's position is inconsistent and until the contradiction is ended, the federal government will continue to subsidize bad public health.

To its credit, the federal bureaucracy in recent years has recognized and publicized the hazards inherent every time we light up a cigaret. Last week, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare proposed a ban on high tar and nicotine cigarets; this action is typical of a continuing war, on one level of government, against this leading killer.

But that war will be lost if the Agriculture Department continues to make it profitable for farmers to grow tobacco. We don't necessarily believe that tobacco production should be banned, for if a man or woman is willing to accept the risks involved, he or she should be allowed that dubious freedom. However, our government should do nothing to encourage smoking.

This isn't the only example of government's inconsistencies in promoting good public health. The tobacco price support program, however, is a glaring example of a federal hypocrisy which should be ended as swiftly as possible. Anything less will continue to help jeopardize the health of many millions of Americans.

My product is hazardous to people's health, too.
Where do I apply for my subsidy?

'Partisans affect our policy'

by WILBUR G. LANDREY
UPI Foreign Editor

As next year's elections draw nearer, there is an increasingly urgent question for other nations: Who runs the United States? Who speaks for America?

There is room for doubt. In foreign affairs, is it President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger? Is it Congress?

In a melting-pot democracy of many nationalities and creeds, what is and should be the influence of the special interests and lobbies? How far should foreign policy be dragged into the political campaign?

The questions are hard ones to ask, and answer, because some of the current major contenders for the presidency of the United States trying to turn their conflicting views into American policy are partisans of Israel, the oil industry, Greek Americans, U.S. military planners.

All command — or seek — votes and influence.

Where does the American national interest lie?

Earlier in this crisis year, there was the dispute over aid to Cambodia and Vietnam. In the last dark days before their fall, Congress refused to go along with Ford administration demands to give them more.

Detente with Russia has come under a partisan fire that is likely to increase.

Two major questions center on the Middle East, for the United States the most strategic area in the world after Western Europe.

The first involves Israel versus the Arabs. There is no question that the United States is committed to Israel's security and existence as a state. The United States is also committed to trying to defuse the conflict that has plunged the area into four wars since Israel established itself there with American help in 1948.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, supported by President Ford, has been involved in a tug of war with the Israeli leaders since March. Kissinger and Ford blamed Israel for Kissinger's failure to bring about a new interim accord then between Israel and Egypt.

To step up the pressure, the American administration undertook a "reassessment" of U.S. policy at a time when Israel was asking nearly $3 billion in American aid for next year.

The Israeli card is the considerable influence it can exercise in U.S. domestic politics. In a demonstration of muscle 76 senators went on record urging the administration to consider the Israeli aid request sympathetically.

In fact, Israel is likely to get a big chunk of its request as part of the Cooperation is needed

among Palatine groups

We urge the Village of Palatine and Palatine Township officials to consider jointly their future office needs before either group decides to construct a new building.

Howard Olsen, Palatine Township supervisor, said he plans to appoint a citizens committee to determine whether a new town hall is necessary. We believe the citizens group is the right approach, but we feel the needs of the Village of Palatine also should be examined.

Whether new facilities are needed immediately is yet to be determined, but it seems logical that eventually such a facility for the township and the village will be essential.

The Palatine Village Hall, 54 S. Brockway St., is small and in recent times several accommodations have been made to house a growing staff. Village board meetings have been moved to the Slade Street Fire Station and the meeting place will be moved again — to the new library when it is completed. With expanded township services, the small town hall soon may also be outgrown.

If it is determined that a new municipal and township office complex is needed, it seems logical the project should be constructed jointly to save the taxpayer in construction costs and to consolidate personnel and services.

Regardless, the Palatine taxpayer stands to gain by a joint study of future office needs.

'Morality's the issue'

Abortion, low morality, sex education classes are very fertile topics of discussion, as shown by my recent debate in your paper with Mr. Kudalis.

According to Mr. Kudalis' letter of Aug. 11, sex education courses in the schools caused family planning centers to go into business, raised the rate of venereal disease and helped cause 4 million abortions happen since January of '73.

All this "low morality" happened because sex education classes left out the subject of "morality." Gee, that's odd, I always thought the various denominations of churches and temples (along with the parents) taught morality, but I guess not.

Who should we have teach the "morality" to sex education classes, Mr. Kudalis? How about a film by our First Lady, Betty Ford? Would her stance on morality please you? Or would you want her censored because her opinions of morality were different than yours?

I attended some beautiful, well done sex education films with my daughter at the Booth Tarkington School (Dist. 21). All the parents who attended agreed they were presented in good taste. Could the sex education films shown in Mount Prospect be that different as to be labeled obscene, lurid and a Commie plot? I think not, Mr. Kudalis.

Abortion is no new thing, Mr. Kudalis. Before it became legal it still happened. Women used any means available, knitting needles, alum, "butcher-type" doctors, etc. Shall we return to the dark days of yesterday? Should we blame the Puritans who hid sex and fetus under the house? Or the Bible, that had sordid sex acts going on with all that begetting and begetting? Or maybe even Eve. For eating of the forbidden fruit? (Pass the fig leaf, Adam — your "low morality is showing.")

As I see it, let the schools teach sex education and let the various religious leaders answer the morality questions, along with the parents. And if they fail in their task, Mr. Kudalis, place the blame where it belongs. Not on the school teachers and sex education.

P.S. Really enjoyed your article on our "Lakeside Ducks." Our house is right on the lake, so needless to say, the beggars are always around our door looking for handouts. Last year one of the ducklings hurt its leg and we took it to Care Animal Hospital. Caused a riot at Dr. Aul's office — duck wrapped in baby blanket.

letters to the editor

She hits Andy's answer

After reading the "Ask Andy" column in last Thursday, Aug. 7 paper I felt I had to write my opinion. I am referring to the question sent into the column by Janie Spang, age 9 of Allentown, Pa., which was, "Where did the moon come from?" The answer that Andy gave was that at present we cannot give a positive answer to this question and that nobody is sure although scientists have made several guesses.

I feel very sorry for Janie and any other children who are left in the dark about such an important question about our universe. So, Janie, I would like to give you the correct answer to this question from our best authority, the Word of God, the Bible. Genesis 1:1 tells us "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. v.14, And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs and for seasons, and for days and years. v.16, And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; he made the stars also." If after reading this one has to wonder where the moon came from I feel sorry for them.

Whoever Andy is, after reading some of the answers he gives children, I wonder if he should be answering their questions.

Mobil Oil trails by four strokes

by PAUL LOGAN

Wickes Furniture captured the 26th annual Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap Golf Tournament Sunday at Buffalo Grove Golf Club with a 287, four strokes ahead of second-place Mobil Oil.

The furniture team, which plays in the Wickes Furniture League at Buffalo Grove, used its knowledge of the par 72, 6465-yard layout to good advantage.

Three members of the winning team shot better than their handicaps. Bill Albu led the way with a gross 73 and net 69. George Porter turned in an 82 gross for a net 70 and Chris Peifer was right behind with an 85 net and 71 gross.

Only teammate Frank Watrous found his home course more difficult than usual, posting a 95 gross and 77

net. However, his higher-than normal score didn't hurt the furniture team thanks to his hot-shooting partners.

Mobil Oil, playing out of the Mobil Oil League at Hilldale Country club, made a strong fight of it, shooting a 291. The runnerup foursome was captained by John Pleasant, who captured low gross honors with an even par 72.

Pleasant, ironically, bogeyed the first hole with the first of his trio of three-putt greens. After posting a front nine one-over-par 37, he carded three back nine birdies en route to his 35. His net score was a 70. Pleasant won a dozen balls for his gross total.

Also making up the second-place team were Howard Holcomb with an 85-10-75, Ron Neill with an 81-4-77 and Phil Braun with an 84-15-69.

One stroke out of second was the St.

Alphonsus team from the St. Alphonsus League at Rob Roy Country Club. Harry Tabel helped his team to a 292 net total with a super 61 net. Tabel's net score easily won the prize in that category. Two other golfers — Ray Sievers and Danny Flaschner of Illinois Bell — tied for second in low net with 65s.

Tabel posted a 49 one the front and a 48 on the back for his 97 gross. Subtracting a handicap of 36 shows that this veteran of other Paddock tourneys is capable of doing well under pressure.

Joining Tabel in taking home the third-place trophies were Gerry Reichel with a 99-29-70, Dennis DeSort with a 96-21-75 and Bob Ernst with a 118-32-86.

The weather was ideal for shooting good scores Sunday, and the tourney's low gross champ — Pleasant — took advantage of it. He said afterwards that if his putter had been a little more consistent, he would have had a good chance for a 68.

The 29-year-old Wheeling resident was 2-under-par going to the 17th—the shortest par 3 on the course — when he three-putted for the third time of the day.

Still, the extra putts didn't hurt him as much as penalty strokes could have. Pleasant was cruising along when he reached the 15th, a fairly tame par 4. But disaster almost cost him low gross honors.

This former outstanding collegiate golfer thought he hit his drive out of bounds. He hit another, this one landing in a lake. Fortunately for him, his first shot had hit a tree and he ended up with a birdie.

"If I hadn't hit a tree out of bounds, I would have been laying five in the fairway," said Pleasant, who added that he might have carded eight.

Pleasant credited his long driving ability (averaging about 280 yards per tee shot) and his short game as being his strengths, "but my putting killed me today," he said.

Others who didn't match par wouldn't have agreed with him. They make up the remaining 34 teams that finished out of the trophy running:

4th — Illinois Bell and Crossroads Realty with 293, 6th — Multigraphic with 296, 7th — Honeywell with 299, 8th — Bentley Barnes & Lynn with 300, 9th — City Products with 303, 10th — United Airlines with 307, 11th — Buffalo Grove Friday with 311, 12th — Clayton Court Apartments with 312, 13th — Twinbrook YMCA with 313, 14th — L-Nor Cleaners and St. Raymond with 316, 16th — Cake Box with 319, 17th — Climax Press with 320, 18th — Binzel Industries with 321, 19th — Buehler YMCA with 323, 20th — Chemplex, Arlington Elks, and Searle Analytic with 324, 23rd — Parker Hannifin with 325, 24th — Western Electric with 327.

25th — Union Oil Monday with 329, 26th — American Can with 334, 27th — Moore Business Forms, Mount Prospect State Bank and Ekco Products with 338, 30th — Bud's Installations with 339, 31st — Ted's Plumbing with 340, 32nd — Fastex and Locasco Builders with 343, 34th — V.F.W. Post 2149 with 352, 35th — Union Oil Tuesday with 378, 36th — Lady of the Wayside, and DiVoto Construction with only three-man totals.

'Ladies Week' brings leading fillies to area

She met her match versus colts in the $65,250 second division of the Round Table Handicap, but Happy Valley Farm's brilliant Katonka figures to keep her title of "America's Sophomore Filly Turf Queen" intact in the $30,000 added Pucker Up Stakes on Saturday at Arlington Park.

The mile and one-sixteenth attraction on the greensward headlines "Ladies Week" at the Northwest suburban oval. The $15,000 added Gabby Abby Stakes on the midweek Wednesday kicks off festivities with a five and one-half furlongs challenge for two-year-old fillies, bred and/or foaled in the State of Illinois.

Katonka, winner of Delaware Park's Open Fire Stakes and Hollywood Park's Honeymoon Handicap this year, was third in the Round Table, nipped a nose and a neck for all the money by Crafty Drone and Slade's Prospect.

If an excuse must be made for the loss, her first in five consecutive trips around the grass course, it could be that she was without the services of her regular rider, the great Laffit Pincay Jr. Through a cruel twist of fate, he was spilled to the track two races before the main event and sustained a broken shoulder.

Katonka's lofty reputation probably won't scare Twenty Six Girl. Now that this little miss is fresh from triumph in Arlington Park's $30,000 added Patricia A. Handicap, a one mile grass affair, she might want to make it a habit.

Then there's Snow Doll, the local juvenile princess of 1974. She has blossomed into an equally impressive three-year-old, finishing a big second to Twenty Six Girl recently in the Patricia A. The effort looms that much more meaningful in that it was her first attempt at sustaining her flashy speed over one mile.

Other eye catching three-year-old fillies eligible to the 15th running of the Pucker Up, named in honor of the famed racemare, include Princess Ormea, Miami Game, Hasty Viento and Stay With Me.

The Gabby Abby Stakes, proving ground for future turf queens, tests recent Prairie State bred winners Miss Mouse, trained by Wiley Enoch Rea, and the swift little Hempen Star, wire-to-wire winner of the $32,375 Orange and Blue Stakes at Sportsman's Park earlier in the spring.

For those up to the test, the Gabby Abby is a stepping stone to the $100,080 estimated Arlington-Washington Lassie Stakes on Saturday, September 6. The six furlongs event is the premier spectacular for the nation's juvenile filly brigade.

They call it the city within a city, a discovery they didn't make until they were out there a few times.

They are the WBBM-TV team of 40 who do live race telecasts at Arlington and Washington parks, something that has grown for them over the past five years because of the human interest and inside feature angles that abound at a racetrack.

Because the race lasts only about two minutes and the post-parade is only around three, that leaves the bulk of the 28-minute time slot open.

Always looking for and at a different perspectives are producer Jim Coursen and director Ken Voss and the extra 23 minutes give them a chance to work with their creativity.

Pre-telecast feature stories covering pace cars to better protection reveal to the viewing audience the many interesting people and things that go unnoticed at a racetrack. It is part of Coursen's and Voss' job to notice the unnoticeable.

"Our relationship with the tracks is very good and this is essential," explained Voss. "We did a feature on the money room once, something not too many people have ever seen because of its top security. We showed the evolution of a two-dollar bet. When they brought those shotguns in I hurried up and got out. It's top security and easy to understand why. The day we did the feature there was approximately three million in cash in the room."

Other features that have been filmed are ones on the pace car, better protection, the jockey room, a music piece set to a film on people enjoying food at the track, and a horse operation.

Here they were fortunate, being at the right place at the right time situation. The operation revealed the concern of the people involved, how very dedicated all the people who work with horses are. A shot of the groom caressing the horse's mane in a sedate manner revealed this mood well for

GETTING READY. Producer Jim Coursen, left, and director Ken Voss help set up another live race telecast at Arlington Park for WBBM-TV. The next live telecast will be the Pucker Cup Handicap on Saturday.

Day at the races

Cameras move in looking for interesting features the audience.

"We are trying to show people that there is more out at a racetrack than they realize," Voss said. "Our goal is to reach a blend of information and entertainment."

The feature team that consists of about nine employees is currently working on a piece about women who work at a track, looking at their jobs from seven different aspects.

"A feature we have planned for future is a glossary of track terminology. For instance, we will talk to fans at the track and ask them what a certain term means, such as railbird," explained Coursen. "Hopefully, we will get some humorous and unique answers. Like any profession, a racetrack has a language all its own, and we hope this feature will show that."

Even though the features usually make up the bulk of the telecast, the nature of the show is that it is live. There is where the work and tight scheduling come into play.

The day starts about 7 a.m., with technicians laying wire and setting up locations for shooting. All of the locations are pre-determined at meetings that are held on Wednesday and Friday prior to a race.

Forty people from WBBM are working on the day of a live telecast including those who are in the studio in Chicago who integrate commercials and the feature spots into the program.

They also work with a system of instant communication, an essential means especially with a live telecast. Announcers Bruce Roberts and Phil Geoffert get instant updates on jockeys, entries and any other news that pertains to the race so that they can relate the message to the viewers.

"Both Bruce and Phil enjoy the sport and the element of the two working together works well. At least we don't have to worry about that aspect of the show," said Coursen.

One major worry they do have is the weather, because no matter how bad it is the race will still be run. On the day of the Grand Slam Handicap telecast Voss said he was sitting in the crew truck and couldn't even see past the windows because of the downpour.

That was the day of the lottery, when the winner won a million dollars. WBBM worked with the lottery commission for over three months preparing the race.

A unique shot came over the television sets that day, another of Voss's innovations. On the bottom half of the screen the horses were shown and on the top half the possible winners of the million dollars were seen jumping up and down underneath their umbrellas.

"Thankfully, and I say this with all honesty, we are blessed with the best technical staff in the country, which was evident the day of the Grand Slam," said Voss. "They really worked, and I mean worked, to make sure everything came through just right, in spite of the weather."

"Thankfully, and I say this with all honesty, we are blessed with the best technical staff in the country, which was evident the day of the Grand Slam," said Voss. "They really worked, and I mean worked, to make sure everything came through just right, in spite of the weather."

The 40-member team works with a looseness frame of about 40 seconds during each live telecast, and to them it's the fastest half hour going.

"When it's over we can't believe where the time has gone. But we do know that we are totally exhausted," said Voss.

The acceptance has grown in the past five years as the coverage of the races has also. Coincidental ratings are taken occasionally and from the comments and reactions received the time spent has been worthwhile.

"We're always looking for something else to do. The features we do are not gimmicks, but innovations," Voss explained. "There are a lot of people out there who have their only contact with racing through television."

Part of the success in the mini-camera work is Peter Bertolino. He's always looking for different places to shoot from.

He gets on top of the starting gate and has a matter of seconds to get down after the horses are released. He hung out the window of the pace car and got an unusual shot of the horses coming head-on in a live race.

The next live race will be the Pucker Up on Aug. 23. Now if they can just figure out how to get Bertolino on a horse with his mini-cam.

That would be a unique angle and it's something Voss, Coursen and the mini-cam man are working on. First, they have to make sure Bertolino's insurance is paid.

Antique Foursome

BEND, Ore (UPI) — The local golf club claims to have the oldest regularly-playing foursome in the world.

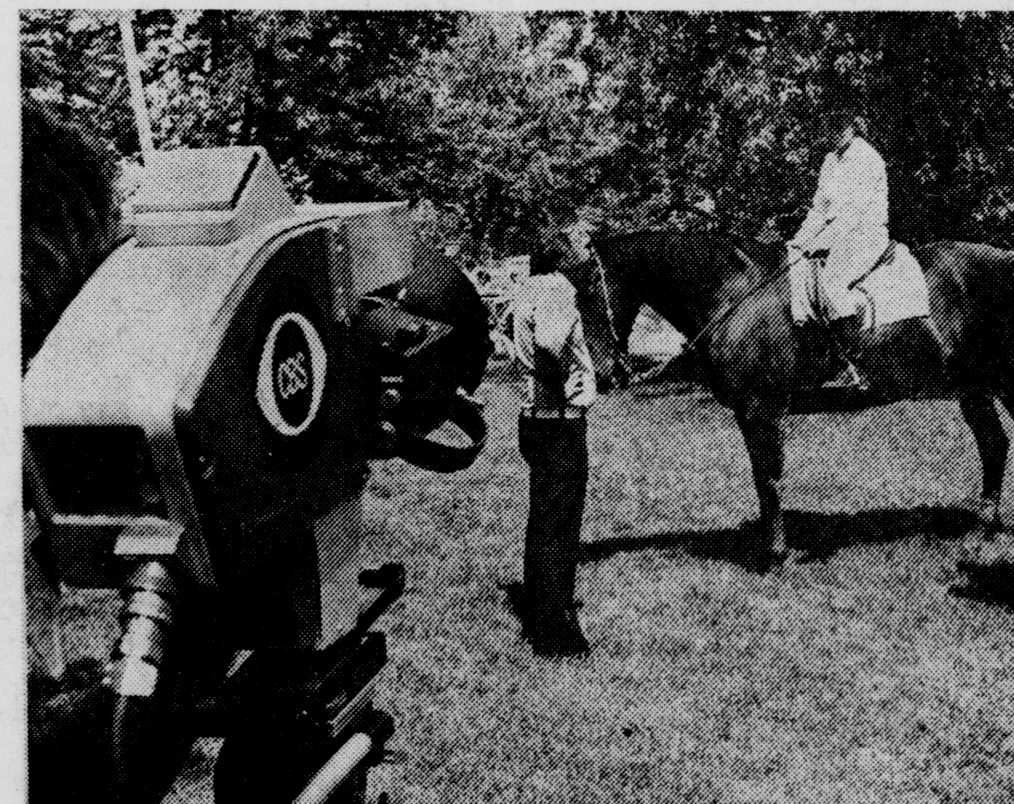

The "Antique Foursome," as they call themselves, have an aggregate age of 345 years and play at least four times a week on the 18-hole Bend course.

The players, all from Bend, are William Stephenson, 90; Lyle Banks, 87; Oscar Classow, 85, and Elmer Panner, 83.

Cubs collect 18 hits; win, 11-7

Bill Madlock raised his National League-leading batting average to .361 with three hits and Jose Cardenal had a perfect 4-for-4 day Sunday to spark an 18-hit attack that carried the Chicago Cubs to an 11-7 victory over the Houston Astros.

Andy Thornton also contributed heavily to the Cubs' attack by knocking in three runs with a double and a single.

The Cubs, leading 4-3, broke the game open in the seventh inning when they sent 11 men to the plate and scored six runs. The Cubs rapped six consecutive singles during the inning off relievers Wayne Granger and Jose Sosa to go with a pair of walks.

Houston had gone in front with single runs in each of the first three innings off Ray Burris, but the Cubs bounced back against starter Jim Crawford with two runs in both the fourth and fifth innings. Thornton's double knocked a pair across in the fourth and in the fifth, singles by Rob Sperring and Rick Monday, a double by Cardenal and a wild pitch by Crawford scored two more.

Despite his early difficulties Burris went the route to score his 10th win against nine losses.

Milt May had a two-run homer for Houston in the eighth inning, and the Astros added two more runs in the ninth.

Veteran driver killed; Donohue out of danger

Veteran driver Dewayne "Tiny" Lund was killed and Marx Donohue was seriously hurt Sunday in separate crashes that stunned the racing world.

Lund, 43, was killed in a six-car smashup on the eighth lap of the Talladega (Ala.) 500. He suffered massive chest injuries and other internal injuries and died at the field hospital about 10 minutes after the wreck.

U.S. driver Donohue was reported out of danger Sunday night following brain surgery after he crashed his car in practice for the Austrian Grand Prix.

Donohue smashed into the guard rail Sunday morning during warmup practice for the Grand Prix, which was won by Vittorio Brambilla of Italy, driving a March. The accident was caused by a flat tire on the right front wheel.

White Sox split; take opener, 6-2

Denny Doyle singled home Rick Burleson with two out in the top of the 11th inning Sunday to give Boston and relief ace Jim Willoughby a 4-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox after the Red Sox had dropped the opener 6-2.

Loser Rich Gossage, who picked up his 18th save in the opener, had retired nine straight batters after relieving Jim Kaat in the Boston eighth, but with two out in the 11th Burleson singled up the middle and Gossage walked Fred Lynn. Doyle then singled to right, easily scoring Burleson with the go-ahead run.

Boston grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second off Kaat on a single by Cecil Cooper, a stolen base and Burleson's single to right.

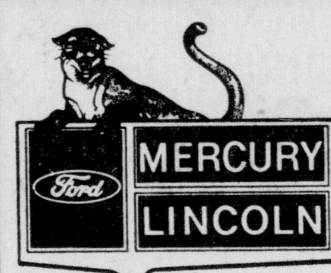

Boston made it 2-0 in the third on a double by Juan Beniquez, a bunt single by Doug Griffin and an error by Carlos May.

The White Sox rallied for three runs in the third off Boston starter Reggie Cleveland, as Ken Henderson, Bill Melton and Jerry Hairston singled in runs.

Dwight Evans tied the score with his 11th homer of the season leading of the sixth.

In the opener, Dave Hamilton, who replaced starter Terry Forster in the second inning, picked up his fifth win against four losses with a 6-1/3 inning relief performance. A double by Carlton Fisk and Evans' single had given Boston a 1-0 lead in the second but the White Sox came back in the bottom half to score three times off loser Rick Wise, climaxed by Jorge Orta's bases-loaded single.

Bicycles flood nation; nearing 100 million

Rover Safety - 1885

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a 12-part series on bicycles.)

by RICHARD BALLANTINE
There is a bicycle boom throughout the world. It's like the 1849 California gold rush.

In 1971 sales were 8.9 million, double the number sold in 1960; in 1972 the figure hit 13.9 million; and in 1973 it jumped to 15.8 million. The total number of bikes in use in the United States is nearing 100 million!

The typical pre-World War II American bike was sturdy but cumbersome. Equipped with a single pedal-operated coaster-brake and one low, slow gear, these "balloon tire bombers" hit the scales at 60 to 75 pounds. Used primarily by youngsters not old enough to drive, they were work-horse machines tough enough to withstand jolting rides over curbs and through fields, frequent nights out in the rain, and a generally high level of abuse.

After World War II returning G.I.s brought home samples of a new kind of bike with a thinner frame and wheels, dual hand-operated caliper brakes, and 3-speed gears.

Dubbed an "English racer" because of its startling better performance, this is actually the "tourist" bike, the common European machine for local use to and from work, shopping, mail delivery, police work, and the like. Lightweight (45 pounds) and geared for both flats and hills, the tourist bike is much easier to ride.

In the 1960s came the 10-and-15-speed racing-touring bikes. If the tourist bike is much better than a balloon tire bomber, the racing bike is incomparably so.

Weighing about 22 pounds, they move much faster and more easily than other types of bikes. The first models came from Europe. Short supply made them very expensive. But adults have the economic clout to buy what they want, and now they account for 65% of the market.

High sales volume has lowered prices, so that a serviceable tourist model is about $40, with better quality machines up to $90. The 10 and 15-speed models run about $60 for a cheapie, $120 for a good quality bike, and $250 and more for a really high quality machine. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Team 7 win playoff spot

Earning a playoff spot in the Chemplex Twilight Golf League, Team 7 finished the second half of the season just five points ahead of Teams 5 and 2.

Team 7, made up of Jack Jacobs, Tom Krigas, Rick Blanchard, and Jim Donato now will play an 18-hole playoff for the championship against Larry Dowd, Elmer Olson, Hank Gudrian and Bob Herigodt of Team 5.

Eric Jannasch not only took low gross honors for the final round with a 38, but also earned season honors on the strength of his 37. Tom Burke made a strong bid for season low net with a 43-14-29, but fell short of Herigodt's 27.

Flight winners for the second half are: Flight A — Ray Cameron; Flight B — Howard Grimmett; Flight C — Gudrian; Flight D — Donato.

Pairings for the 18-hole playoff for flight championships are: Flight A — Jannasch vs. Cameron; Flight B — Krigas vs. Grimmett; Flight C — Ron Kernkamp vs. Gudrian; Flight D — George Stirn, Donato and Dave Schull.

Arlington schedules tryouts for girls

Tryouts for girls' tennis and archery teams at Arlington High School will be held next week, starting on Monday.

Returning athletes as well as first-year students are invited to report to the tennis courts for a workout starting at noon and going until 3 p.m.

The archers will practice between 2:30 and 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with tryouts Thursday and Friday.

The girls' swim team will start practicing around Aug. 25.

Elk Grove tennis signup

Monday is the opening day of practice for the Elk Grove High School girls' tennis team, running from 9 to 12 in the morning.

On Tuesday, incoming freshmen interested in making the team are welcome to tryout from 9-12 also. Practice will run the same until school starts.

Fremd's runners register strong marathon showing

Fremd High School cross country runners made an impressive showing in the Paavo-Nurmi Marathon with John Filosa given the best show.

Filosa finished sixth out of a field of 502, running the 26-mile, 385-yard course in two hours, 34 minutes, and 34 seconds.

Coach Ron Menely was also pleased with the job of the other seven runners he brought to Hurley, Wis.

Dan Tischler finished 29th with a 2:45:06, followed by Dean Elleman in 34th (2:48:36) and Bob Ratcliffe in 36th (2:48:45). Ratcliffe took first place in the 15 and under age bracket and is one of the top runners in the country within that group.

Other runners for the team were Pete Aldrecht in 43rd (2:51:38), Jerry Pellegrini in 56th (2:55:46), Dale Ogden in 57th (2:56:20), and Boris Sorokin in 184th (3:27:04).

Filosa received a trophy for third place in his 16-29 age bracket and is one of the top runners in the country in that group.

The age range of the entire marathon went from an 8-year-old girl to an 81-year-old man as 479 of the 502 starters finished the race.

Des Plaines honors champions in park district competition

Des Plaines Park District baseball champions were honored in the Stars of Tomorrow and Intermediate leagues during the final week of scheduled play. Awards were given to the champions at their respective parks.

The Giants took first place at South Park in the Stars of Tomorrow league with a 12-0 record while the Yankees were the Intermediate champs with an 11-1 mark.

The Cubs walked off with the Stars of Tomorrow championship at Central Park with a 9-3 record as the Orioles did likewise in the Intermediate group with an 8-3 record.

At Chippewa Park, the Cubs won the Stars of Tomorrow crown with a 7-4-1 record while the Orioles picked up the Intermediate league award at 10-3.

The Cardinals took first place in the Stars of Tomorrow league at Seminole Park with a 10-2 mark, while the Cardinals of West Park also won first in the Stars of Tomorrow league at 10-1-1.

Rolling Meadows All-Stars take fourth in tournament

The Rolling Meadows All-Stars, a team of 11-and-12-year-old performers from the Rolling Meadows Little League, received a team trophy for taking fourth place in the George Woltz Memorial Tournament.

The double elimination tourney is held each year in Round Lake, Ill. Many teams from the Northwest Suburban area enter.

The team was managed by Bruce Wolter and coached by George Prelac and Bill Madden. The team members were Dave Beyer, Jim Bockman, Eric Hill, Ron Jacobsen, Ed Larson, John Mastry, Jack Miller, Al Prelac, Carl Schumacher, Bob Soto, Don Vanderweil, Ron Varchetto, Scott Wolter and Mike Zielinski.

This was the all-stars' first attempt at post-season play.

STEP UP TO A SOLID FUTURE WITH

PROCTER & GAMBLE SALES

We are seeking an individual who is doing retail food store selling, likes it, and now wants to make these efforts more rewarding. Your sales territory will be right here in the northwestern Chicago area; you'll be home every night with your family.

You'll be selling products recognized as the best, backed by effective advertising, and you'll be talking to customers who need and respect you and the marketing help you can give them.

You'll be trained to give this marketing help by experts in an organization noted for its marketing ability, and for the quality of its selling methods.

In short, you'll be successfully selling first-class products with a first-class company at a good salary and with one of the finest benefit programs available anywhere. A part of this benefit program includes the opportunity to own stock in the company through profit sharing.

This is a good, permanent career opening for the serious-minded person with feet on the ground and a liking for sales work.
